To the Editor of the New York Herald :

Sir-A desire that others may be restored to health by using the same means by which I have been recoved from that dendful disease, co-sumption; is the only notive I have for solicities an insertion in your sudely-read journal of the following statement of facta:—Early in December last, I had an attack of inflammation of the lung, and was confined for a fortinght to bed. Three weeks later I hook fresh cold, which again settled on my lungs. This second study was regarded by my physicion as "horselities." Finding myself growing steadily worse, I called in a second medical, man, who considered my disease "horselities." Finding myself monther took coddiver oil, applied rivitation to my chest, had cough mixtures and bilivers, &c., without obtaining more than the merest temporary benefit from all that was prescribed I felt that my case was gradually becoming conframed and desporate. I was emaciated, and so weak as to be sarcely able to walk. I had a severe cough, which increased on kying down at night and on rising in the morning; suffered dreadfully from shortness of breath on going up stairs, or the slightest secretion. What I spit up was of a greenish-yellow solor, and sometimes tinged with blood. My appetits was peor, and I had constantly a painful some of oppression through my chest. Under these circumstances the future looked dark and unyromising, and I felt that, unless relief was speedly afforded, I must scorn and down to all cherished.

The pair of Columbia, where I was staying at the timeday, I understand, is now staying for a few days at No. 4

Circular to Ladies.—O. B. Goldsmith is aware that, in urging upon the ladies of New York and its vicinity the advantages of a graceful, symmetrical, and delicate hand, he can only echo the general opinion which the refinement and good taste of the sex have already prompted. He claims, however, that in organizing a superb drawing room academy, consisting of a series of five elogantly furnished partors, each convertible on the instant into a private etudy, he has created a splendid novelty in this leading branch of education, which throws a fascination around the art of writing, and renders the perfecting process a pleasure rather than a toil. He invites especial attention to the beauty and high finish of the styles he teaches, and to the rapidity, care, and certainty with which they are acquired under his instruction. His rooms, No. 322 Broadway, corner of Franklin street, are furnished more like the boudoirs and reception rooms of an up-town mansion, than like ordinary school rooms; and may without egotism, he proneunced the most sumptuous and recherche apartments evar opened for private pupils in this or any other country. Ladies are invited to call and see the establishment, inspect the specimens of penmanship, and learn the terms of instruction. Oilver B. GOLDSMITH.

Attention to Bristowy's Superior Westings.

Attention to Bristow's Superior Writing.— Don't lose the present opportunity of learning to write a good hand, in twelve lessons, tree, easy, and elegant, not surpassed, of the greatest penman of the age. Call, ladies and goutle-men, on Mr., B., at his handsome parlors, 293 Hroadway, La-farge Buildings, rooms 16 and 17, and see specimens.

Hill's Hair Cutting, Curling, Shampooing, and shaving room, 45 Nassun, adjoining Liberty street, where Hill's instantaneous hair dye is sold or applied. Also, for sale, Hill's celebrated infallible ouguent for the hair.

A Slave State.—A Teacher in Virginia, giving lessons in reography, asked a boy what State he lived in. The urchin hit the fact when he drawled out, a state of sin and misery. If he was afflicted with piles, cuts, corns, sores, burns, scalds, chapped hands, frosted feet, he could easily have been cured by procuring a box of Russia Salve, so useful for those purposes. Sold by CHAS. H. RING, corner of Broadway and John street.

Dr. Morse's Invigorating Elixir or Cordial.—Among all the herbs applied in medical practice, that which forms the main ingredient in this preparation stands suppressed. It is nature's exhabotoon. Had the travels of Dr. Morse, which have added so much to science in its various branches, resulted in the discovery of this herb alone, he would still have been the great benefactor of the age. Mineral remedies are utterly superceded by this purely vegetable specific. Are you weak, dyspeptic, nervous, subject to sudden fushes, convulsed with neuralgia or tic doloreux, irregular in any physical functions, enervated in any organ, subject to sudden fushes of any kind? Here is your remody. Is your mind, your memory clouded; does your head fail you in husiness; are you depressed in spirits, doblitated, worn out, and utterly "out of heart?" Here is your renovator. Here is a stimulant more effective than alcohol; permanent in its effects, and harmless to the system as filtered water. Think of these things, you that are sick and suffering, and test our words by experiment. The cordial is put up, highly concentrated, in pint bottles. Price, 83 per hottle; two for $5, and six for $12. C. H. RING, proprietor, 192 Broadway. Sold by dreggists throughout the United States, Canada, and the Weet Indies.
